First COVID-19 Related Death Reported in Rappahannock County

(Washington, VA) – The Rappahannock County Board of Supervisors expresses its condolences to the family of the first county resident to die from COVID-19 related factors. The Virginia Department of Health has reported that a white female in her 70s, with pre-existing medical conditions, succumbed this week to health complications stemming from a COVID-19 infection.

This fatality is a somber reminder that citizens should continue to protect themselves and others through social distancing, the wearing of face coverings when in public, and other CDC recommended measures. These simple actions will go a long way in protecting our community from further infections and deaths.

The Rappahannock County Office of Emergency Management continues to monitor the COVID-19 situation and will provide updates as additional information becomes available.
